CHALLENGE AND ACHIEVEMENT

The AY Silver Award is a prize worth striving for. It brings together core aspects of physical, mental, and spiritual vitality. It presents a clear plan and encourages young people to be well-rounded, fit individuals, by excelling in all three areas. By encouraging physical fitness, good health practices, life skills, and more, the AY Silver Award is an ideal way to develop strong character qualities, clear thinking, and keen spiritual perception that will prepare youth for life here and for eternity. Now, as never before, we need an army of youth rightly trained, to carry “the message of a crucified, risen, and soon-coming Savior . . . to the whole world!” (A Call to Stand Apart, p. 67).

I am pleased to endorse the AY Silver Award plan of the General Conference’s Youth Ministries Department and encourage our youth everywhere to strive for this high achievement.

AY SILVER AWARD

Did you know that Daniel the prophet earned an AY Silver Award? OK, maybe not, but only because the award didn't exist back then but Daniel definitely took care of his body and was greatly rewarded for it. Despite the fact, he was daily tempted to ruin his physical, spiritual and mental health with the king's food and drink, but this young man determined in his heart to honor God instead, by treating his body like a temple! As a result, God blessed Daniel and his three friends to the point that they were ten times better looking and ten times smarter than the other young people! This Special AY Silver Award is a reminder that God still blessed young men and women who determine in His strength to honor God with their bodies.

LIVE LIFE TO THE FULL!

Life is a precious gift, as is health. We all wish to be strong and healthy – especially when we admire the rippling, sculpted, and powerful muscles of the well-trained athlete. We may desire to be strong and agile, but desire is not enough. There must be the choice to get fit and to develop our total fitness and strength.

Successful living requires choices and the cultivation of healthy habits. It is necessary to give priority to the important and exclude or discard what will not contribute to success. This means we should have a plan and follow it. We need to budget and use our time wisely. We are multidimensional beings, created in the image of God. The AY Silver Award requires not only physical fitness, but mental, spiritual, and emotional wellness and wholeness (as wholistic beings). Each dimension of health must be carefully developed and nurtured, and sacredly guarded. We need to exercise, but we also need to rest. We need a balanced, nutritious diet, and lots of pure water. We must avoid harmful substances and behaviors, and live balanced lives.

As we strive to add speed to our strength and endurance to our agility, let us ever keep our eyes upon Jesus. As we feed on His Word, we will learn to know Him, and speak with Him as to a friend. He came in order that we may have life and live it to the full (John 10:10). In His strength, and by His Spirit, physical exercise, spiritual commitment, emotional stability, and mental sharpness can all come together in purpose, service, and a fulfilled life. The goals of the AY Silver Award Winners will thus be fully attained, and in turn, many others blessed by these lives of healthy service.

GENERAL CONFERENCE OF ADVENTISTS

AY SILVER AWARD

The AY Silver Award is presented to Christian youth in secondary through high school level who have demonstrated exceptional qualities of physical, mental and cultural development. Sponsored by the Youth Ministries Department of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the plan gives teen-age youth an opportunity to find satisfaction in worth-while achievement. Each participant and AY Silver Award winner will be better prepared to take his place as a constructive member of his church and community. The sincere effort and perseverance required to qualify in the various activities will develop qualities of character much needed in today's generation.

The future of our church depends upon the ability and willingness of young people to serve their fellow men by living Christ-guided lives. Under God these Christian youth have a high destiny in the final climactic hours of history. Because demands upon God's people will be great, only those youth who have a firm foundation on the Word of God and have chosen a moral platform which reflects the purity of the Lord Jesus, will be able to stand. Good health, clear thinking, and keenness of spiritual perception are closely linked together. The AY Silver Award plan has been established to give strength to these important elements of life.

TESTS, AWARDS, AND RECORDS

The conference/field Youth Ministries Director directs the plan and supervises the tests. He may designate certain qualified individuals to act for him in administering the program. In academies an AY Silver Award committee composed of the academy AY sponsor (as chairman), the physical education instructors, dormitory deans, AY leader and other personnel if desired, should direct the AY Silver Award Plan.

In the local church, the AY leader is chairman of the AY Silver Award committee, with qualified examiners appointed by the AY executive committee and approved by the conference AY secretary to direct the plan. Although the AY Silver Award plan is designed primarily for Seventh-day Adventist teen-age youth, it is not required that one who receives the award be a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

An accurate record of the candidate's completion of each requirement is to be kept in the AY Silver Award manual. Space is provided in columns to the right of each requirement for entering (1) the date completed, (2) score (where indicated), and (3) certification signature of examiner authorized by the AY Silver Award committee.

PRESENTATION

The presentation of the AY Silver Award should be an impressive occasion at which a General Conference, union conference, or local conference Youth Ministries Director should be in charge. Other officials of the church or community may be invited to participate in the ceremony. The presentation of the AY Silver Award should be a principal component of the program.

'The AY Silver Award medal and ribbon will be treasured by all who receive it. The name of the recipient should be etched on the reverse. (No AY Silver Awards should be presented which do not have this personalized inscription.)

MATERIALS AVAILABLE

This AY Silver Award plan manual is all you will need to get started. Of course, in passing the tests in Section II you will need an AY/Pathfinder Honor Handbook, wherein the AY Honors are outlined. You will find on the following pages check lists for the various requirements. Your personal record should be kept here.

THE SCOPE OF THE PLAN

The AY Silver Award plan consists of five divisions:

1. Physical Fitness – There are a number of optional provisions, but it is very important that each individual who qualifies have the certification of an officially designated examiner when his final records are turned in.
2. Skills-The development of skills follows the outline as represented in the AY Honors program. Ten Honors are designated from which the participant will qualify in two.
2. Expedition – The directions are given for a rather strenuous outdoor expedition, and it is very important that those who anticipate making such an expedition check with a qualified examiner to be sure that all conditions are met and certified.
3. Service Projects – This requires the participant to have a record of leadership in which he has successfully discharged his responsibilities.
4. Cultural Improvement – There is a choice on the part of the participant. Recognized certification for the reading or writing accomplished is an absolute necessity.
5. The importance of healthful living habits cannot be overemphasized in striving for these objectives, nor the wonderful feeling of accomplishment one will enjoy having achieved these goals.
